

I. Ships and Aircraft

Section I of the Modifications of Activities Planned for 1999-00 lists any changes to ship and aircraft usage planned for this time period.

Ships

No significant changes are reported.

Aircraft

The 109th Tactical Airlift Group (TAG) of the Air National Guard (ANG) based in Schenectady, New York provided four LC-130 aircraft during the first half of the deployment season, and then brought a fifth LC-130 aircraft after the holidays to fly intra-continental flight operations.

The Royal New Zealand Air Force provided airlift support between Christchurch, New Zealand and McMurdo Station, Antarctica from November to December, and during late January through early February.